

AN INTIMATE SURVEY OF A RURAL MUNICIPALITY

By Bert Hoffman

We, the People, all much alike and yet infinitely unlike, are a most interesting mass of living cells. Extremely jealous of our pride, jealous of our self-righted, jealous of our political, jealous of our religious, jealous of our patriotism, impatient of opposition. Yet we live together in intimate harmony, agree and disagree, hourly on trivial issues, follow our individual inclinations with a cocky spirit and then as a community we cast our votes on our infirmities and our teeth and nail for the common welfare.

Here in our little home community of this Valley Rural Municipality is an epitome, a miniature. Like those of the entire human race, there are 2100 of us according to the last count of our some 200 square miles, showing some 300 different methods of farming, financing and thinking.

Every shade of political and religious thought in the Dominion is represented in this 2100. For people we argue, dispute, disagree. We are for our individual bent with a sure fondness that would make a creditable treasure for our safety and yet we come together in our rural municipality, as a people, to elect a community office holder. (1) It is with useful furniture, buy as common property some $17,000 worth of road building machinery, and (2) it is with useful furniture, buy as common property some $17,000 worth of road building machinery, and (3) it is with useful furniture, buy as common property some $17,000 worth of road building machinery.

We trust the entire intimate nature and administration of our hundreds of miles of public roads and of our sixteen school districts to a chosen number of ourselves, without ever giving a thought to the social significance of this action on our part.

No where else in the civilized world is there a more intimate, more drastic, more complete, more social organization than in a rural municipality. The people, the whole community of people in this rural municipality own in common some $25,000 worth of community property, share its use, pay for it out of the community treasury, enjoy its benefits, repair and replace it as it wears out in its service and never give a thought to the deep social and economic truth behind and beyond this community action.

If some distant politician of the old school should hear that a rural municipality group of people here in the Valley, or in any of the other 159 rural municipalities in Alberta, he would probably rush a wire and a minister of justice to invoke Section 45 of the Criminal Code and have us arrested and perhaps deported.

And yet we are contented, satisfied to the utmost degree, a Socialist state on a small scale, a communistic enterprise in open defiance of the law, and yet one is ashamed or frightened at this old Communism.

An intimate survey of the activities of a rural municipality is an adult education. We survey, by our trade, direct and close, public roads. We estimate and build bridges. We collect and disburse school taxes. We receive applications for relief, investigate the circumstances and pay the relief. We regulate the trade and health. We employ, directly or meet future citizens on their arrival in north and maintain cemeteries to give them a resting place on their departure.

We license auctioneers to sell our surplus property and license choppers, shows, entertainments to amuse ourselves. We own a gravel pit and a recreation ground. We own plows, tractors, scrapers, road machines, all common property. We buy lumber, hardware, machinery. We hire and fire labor. We make war on robbers, drink land, fight with the state, and ways clear of extra stock and maintain order, decency and good health. From these multitudinous activities of a rural municipality it is an adult education. We step to the erection of a community grant mill, a community laundry in which to convert our pot and cowhide into useful leather, a community blacksmith shop, a community elevator or warehouse, or any other vital public utility to which the people might ask. It is our tax money. We can direct it into any useful channel to serve ourselves.

And all of this is done in the routine of the municipality shows how almost imperceptibly this same socialization might be extended. Wider and more important spheres of our community life.

Every time I drive over to Strathmore, new things, every time I enter a smooth stretch of dirt road which we, the people, have built with our own money, I am more proud of how Valley rural municipality. I have on the map about twenty miles square, we are supplying to the utmost the needs of this thin skin of humanity, supplied in one rural municipality.

I daily think my stars that I am one of the 2100 fortunate units making up this seedling mass of living human cells within our borders.

Death of Mr Dewitt

Tuesday the sad news was carried that an old and respected citizen in the person of Mr. Dewitt had passed on to the Great Beyond.

Deceased was born at Fishers' Ferry, Northumberland County, Penn., in August 1852 and had reached the advanced age of 80 years.

He was married to Delia Ann in 1880 and moved to Strathmore in April 1911 where he has continuously resided, and made a host of friends.

His wife predeceased him a few years ago.

He was one of seven members in the family and he was the last survivor.

He had been ill for some months, but had been in the Valley hospital where he underwent quite a serious operation and after partial recovery he returned to his home but recently he had gradually weakened until the end came.

He is a brother in law of Mr. Lem Dewitt.

The funeral will be held at his home on Saturday at 1 p.m., after which interment will take place in Burnside Cemetery, Calgary.

The funeral will be in charge of W. Chase & Co.

Restraints and Singing will take place in the Memorial Hall at 7:30 p.m.

Physical Training at School grounds at 2 p.m.

Sports at School Grounds following the Physical Training.

Dance in Memorial Hall from 9:30 to 11:30 p.m.

Details of the Social Ball Tournament will be announced later.

Musical Revue at Hirtle's

A bright and sparkling comedy of music, dancing and witty repartee was given in the Hirtle's Theatre on Wednesday night, when a variety of musical talent was displayed by a number of the Junior youth folk of Strathmore under the able instruction and supervision of Miss Bell.

Graceful dances to the strains of bright music formed a large part of the programme. The remarkable part of which is that these children were trained in the brief space of one week and the dancing was carried through in perfect time and without any wrong movements on the part of any, for which we congratulate Miss Bell on her capable and careful training in dancing and singing.

There were pretty choruses, duets,

NEW PRESIDENT OF CANADIAN WEEKLY PRESS

At the meeting of the Canadian Press Association held at Vancouver, Charles Clark of the High River Times was elected president. His many friends not only in newspaper and they are legion, but his many personal acquaintances in Alberta, join in extending their congratulations.

That Charlie each week in the High River Times delivers the goods is proven by the 12755 circulation of the Times and further that he has been awarded several times for publishing the best local weekly in Canada, by the Canadian Weekly Press Association. Alta Boy, Charlie.

The United Church Ladies Aid will be held in the King Edward Shrine Room on Saturday afternoon, Sept. 23rd.

Under this compulsory system the seller will sell their crop for any price at any place, and for any price. The restriction is mainly on the volume of shipments, and in the case of wheat, the producer of the volume of shipment is also regulated. Each grower is limited and the productivity of his land estimated. All producers are restricted by the same percentage. A certificate showing how much produce he can put on the market will be presented to the grower.

The School Fair Committee wishes to thank Mr. J. L. Campbell for a donation of $2.00.

Friday Day services will be held in the United Church Sunday School on Sunday Sept. 22 at 11 a.m.

HUGE LOAN IS URGED TO SPEED RECOVERY

Nacoma, Que. A loan of $500,000 to be devoted to the task of economic recovery should be immediately floated, instead of allowing the country to drift along in its present listless fashion, it was suggested at a Liberal rally here by Jean Prévost, M.P., the member of Parliament for Nacoma.

The loan should be national in character, Mr. Prévost said and should be guaranteed by the Government at 10 per cent as follows:

1. On bank account interest.
2. On dividends paid by all types of companies, including insurance companies.
3. On the income from mortgage loans.
4. On bond coupons, without any exception.

This tax on bank deposits, interest and the revenue from dividends and bond coupons, could be collected at little cost, by the banks, and that on the income from mortgage loans by mortgagees and estate agents and by postmasters. By taxing revenue at its source the State would prevent fraud and save millions and millions of dollars.

Would it not be proper to make a convention of tax free bonds to take the necessary steps to prevent speculation on a fall, to control by a tax new issues of stock and to tax foreign concerns operating in this country?

Mr. Prévost proposed the proceeds of the loan be applied to drainage of land for agricultural purposes, built roads and improvement of roads in colonization districts, a policy of reforestation, a national policy for the exploitation of mines and the development of the fishing industry.

CALIFORNIA FARM BILL FOSTERS RELIEF BY CROP PRORATING

San Francisco, Calif. California is to start an experiment of its own in farm relief—a revolutionary move which deals with marketing the state's agricultural products as provided in a drastic farm proration bill signed by Gov. James Rolph Jr.

This measure sets up legal machinery by which the crop of any one farm product can be curtailed on an equal basis thus preventing a market glut.

An agricultural proration commission of nine members will be appointed by the Governor. Four of these members must be producers, two must be dealers of produce and three representative of the consumers.

A group of 50 or more farmers of the same product who wish to organize a proration zone may appeal to the commission, showing the necessity of such a move and asking for an election. If two thirds of the producers vote favorably the proration district is established. A committee of five producers determines the method and extent of the proration and the commission of nine appoints an agent to carry out the program.

Under this compulsory system the seller will sell their crop for any price at any place, and for any price. The restriction is mainly on the volume of shipments, and in the case of wheat, the producer of the volume of shipment is also regulated. Each grower is limited and the productivity of his land estimated. All producers are restricted by the same percentage. A certificate showing how much produce he can put on the market will be presented to the grower.

SWIFT CANADIAN COMPANY LIMITED

Edmonton—Edmonton's largest manufacturing company is planning to celebrate its 25th anniversary in business here the week of Sept. 25th. In that time according to Mr. Gordon Robertson, Manager, the Swift Canadian Co. Limited has paid out around $150,000,000 to persons within the Alberta and Saskatchewan provinces. This money has gone to producers of livestock to their animals, to thousands of men and women who have, in that period, been on the Swift payroll for taxes, maintenance and other purposes.

Producers of livestock alone have received the total of more than $85,000,000.

At the present time there are about 4500 men and women on the Swift payroll. One of the features of the business, of which Mr. Robertson is the manager, is the fact that during the last four years his company has continued to operate at close to normal, in the face of the worst conditions. Plans are being made for further progress.

This, however, is due to the courage of the farmers and livestock producers, said Mr. Robertson. With world markets and world prices at low ebb, the producers of agricultural products have courageously refused to admit that they have carried on, and we have accepted their terms. We have, through the worldwide markets, available to us, the great Alberta producers, to the far corners of the world. Shipments have been made to China and Japan, to other parts of the far East as well as to the great European countries.

When Swift Canadian Co. Limited came to Edmonton in 1908, this city was only a town. Our plant was not large for the livestock capital of the West. In 1908 was only one third of what it now is. As the city grew and the province with it, so also did Swift attempt to keep pace with their progress.

We hope that during the week of our anniversary every man and every woman who can will come to Edmonton, and will visit the Swift plant. We shall have men on hand prepared to show them about the plant, to explain the various processes necessary in the preparation of the meats and other products and to outline how these products find their way to all parts of the world.

The program as outlined for the week by Mr. Robertson is as follows: Monday, Sept. 25th—Swedish Club Day. Open house to be held for residents of Edmonton and vicinity. In the evening a dinner is to be given at the Macdonald Hotel for executives of the company and old employees of the office and plant.

Tuesday, Sept. 26th—Women's Club Day. Special attention will be given to members of women's organizations who visit the plant that day. An executive who was made that the women's club which registers at the largest number of members at the packing plant during the week would receive a $25.00 cash reward its budget.

Wednesday, Sept. 27th—Retail Dealers Day. Invitations will be sent to every retail dealer of food products in the Edmonton trading area, to visit the Swift plant on this day. To the retail dealer who appears with the oldest bill of sale for Swift goods, the management plans to present a credit memorandum. Other awards also will be made by lot.

Thursday, Sept. 28th—Farm and Ranch Day. Plans have been made to give farmers and ranchmen special attention on this day. They will be shown about the plant and marketing methods of their products will be explained to the visitors from the greatest distance.

Friday, Sept. 29th—Old Settlers' Day. Old time workers on the plant will be on hand to greet and show these visitors about. Prizes will be given to the oldest settler who appears on the plant that day. Prizes will be given to the oldest settler who appears on the plant that day.

Saturday, Sept. 30th—Family Day. Prizes will be given to the largest family who appears on the plant that day. Prizes will be given to the largest family who appears on the plant that day.

$17,000 ESTATE

Probate of the $17,000 estate left by Henry Charles Chamberlain, Chamberlain, 51 years, Strathmore farmer who died June 23 was granted Tuesday to Henrietta Chamberlain, widow, and her three children: Charles, 21, 19 and 17. Henrietta Chamberlain, daughters, all of Strathmore.

Application was made August 26, and was granted August 28. Gross value of the estate was $17,479.92 and the net $12,177.43. Chamberlain left $5,810 in real estate, $3,125.55 in insurance, $120.84 in stocks and $6,271.61 secured by mortgage. Beneficiaries are the widow and four children of Strathmore. J. J. Pettie is acting for the executrix.

SPORT NOTES

The Ladies Fall Handicap Cup played between Mrs. McFarland and Mrs. Van Tighem is being played this week.

The first draw for the men's handicap cup has also been made and players have until Saturday night Sept. 20th in which to turn in their signed cards marked Hole and Hole for match play.

The members of the club are keenly delighted by the way the course has been kept up and improved during the past two seasons. The new Ninth hole has proved to be interesting and different from any other on the course. The Clubhouse has now been painted inside and out and a good floor laid due to the energy of the ladies, coupled with Mr. Ridley's able assistance.

All these improvements have attracted more money and in order to keep on a sound footing the Club has decided to put on a golf dance on Thursday night October 20th. This will be no doubt be a most enjoyable affair and so with the swing that has characterized golf club affairs this year, it is no surprise that the members of the club are so keenly interested in the following list shows the draw and handicaps.

INGLEWOOD GOLF CLUB RETURN MATCH AT STRATHMORE

On August 20th the Strathmore Club played a tournament with the Inglewood Club on their course in East Calgary. This course has been the best since the Inglewood Club and is most interesting and attractive.

Last Sunday the return match was held on the Strathmore course with almost ideal weather. The grounds committee and the ladies of the Strathmore Club have carried out a splendid program of improvements this year and the visitors were agreeably surprised and commented most favorably on our home course. The visitors arrived soon after one o'clock in one of the large Greyhound buses and were pulled off with our best players. The home team could not hold the larger club on the score which gave Inglewood 17 points to Strathmore 3-24 for the men, although there were five matches that reached 18 holes or more.

The ladies of Strathmore did very well having 5 points to 1-14 for Inglewood. Mrs. McFarland had the lowest index score at 102 and Mrs. Phillips was low for the visitors at 112. Tea with sandwiches and cake was served at the close of the games and enjoyed by everybody.

The players and scores were as follows:

Mrs. Ridley 1 vs Mrs. Phillips 9.
Mrs. Brown 1 vs Mrs. Cuthill 9.
Mrs. Milson 0 vs Mrs. Kenean 1.
Mrs. McFarland 1 vs Mrs. Walls 9.
Miss McCann 1 vs Mrs. Watson 9.
Mrs. Van Tighem 0 vs Mrs. Higgins 14.
Mrs. Macrum 0 vs Mrs. Wilson 1.
Mrs. Nichol 0 vs Mrs. Jenkins 1.
Mrs. Pierson 1 vs Mrs. Toye 9.
Mrs. Fessenden 0 vs Mrs. Wootton 1.
Total 5 4-14.

Arrangements for the ladies' Friday night are all complete, including a live jazz orchestra starting to go with the music, while Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Macle, pasty winners for the good lunches they have put up for the past are in charge of the supper. With threshing practically done a lively time is anticipated.

Various houses are requesting rapidly after the emergency operation for appendicitis in Calgary last Wednesday.

Miss Jean Little has received word that she took first prize in her class for writing at the Langdon school Fair.

Mrs. Baker left last Saturday for Edmonton to visit her sister Mrs. Beach.

The Ladies Aid met last Saturday at the home of Mrs. Bremner, with rather fewer than usual in attendance owing to threshing. Food donations for the next supper on October 2nd were arranged, written lists to be sent to members and alternate lists. Mrs. Waters was appointed convener of the program to follow the supper, after a delicious lunch served to the hostesses, a surprise birthday cake bearing sixteen candles and containing the usual wishes was presented to Mrs. Chas. Watson whose birthday it was. Polkaettes were exchanged and a pleasant social hour enjoyed. Another interesting feature of the meeting was the reading of an article on the World's Grain Fair at Regina by Mrs. Burnage. Mrs. H. A. Miller will entertain the Aid next month. (Hammie Hill softball team played Alton School last week winning an easy victory 13-4.)

ARDENODE

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Tapson, also Mr. and Mrs. D. Hockburger have left this district and have taken their permanent residence up at Sundre, Alta. Friends were pleased to see Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Booth again in the district. They are both in the very best of health. After visiting around for a few days Mr. Booth says he will spend the coming winter at Victoria. While here Mr. and Mrs. Booth were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Sarsons. Friends of Mr. H. W. Githart will be sorry to learn he is quite sick at the home of his daughter Mrs. J. J. Pith of Lethbridge.

Threshing is coming along fine, a few stoppages, but nothing to hurt yet. There is a nice sample of grain coming in but a very poor average.

TARIFFS, EXCHANGE, QUOTAS, EMBARGOS, CHOKE TRADE

The September Royal Bank Monthly letter says, "increased tariffs, exchange restrictions, import quotas and embargoes have choked the channels of world trade. They have been no less effective in reducing exports than in shutting off imports. It was obviously impossible for all countries simultaneously to develop favourable balances of trade. The impossibility of this objective was accentuated by the need of the debtor countries to pay their debts in goods. Creditor countries have not willingly permitted their balances of trade to become unfavourable, but is but another way of saying that there are no countries willing to receive payments on the amounts due them. Governments subjected to increased expenditures by the extraordinary demands of the depression and deprived of normal income from tariffs and internal taxation have resorted to regulation of money, monetary, or re-traffic of goods at lower interest rates measures tantamount to levies on capital. These have been phenomena experienced throughout the world. In the countries of Latin America the repercussions of the depression have been peculiarly severe. Since these countries were disproportionately dependent upon the proceeds of the sale of their raw materials in foreign markets, they have been unable to resort to foreign money markets. On the whole, however, the measures have been taken to meet the depression in Latin American countries do not differ greatly from those which have been put in force in other parts of the world. It is true that Latin America is getting along with a smaller amount of manufactured goods from abroad, that these countries are learning to supply a larger part of their own requirements, but the policies which have made this possible are regarded as emergency measures. In the future it will be the standard of living in the manufacturing countries that will suffer if the countries of Latin America are forced into a permanent policy of self-sufficiency.

Between 1912 and 1929 the exports of the Latin American countries rose from $1,117,087,000 to $2,548,000,000. In 1929 they fell to $890,182,000. In considering this rapid rise and fall in annual exports it becomes evident that no human wisdom could have foreseen such severe curtailment of exports. Governments have budgeted in such a manner as to be fully prepared to meet the conditions which they have encountered. Since revenue from exports constitutes a large proportion of the total income of Latin American countries that it does of the income of manufacturing countries, the relationship of this table to the problem of South American debt is self-evident.

STANDARD

The School term has started with a staff of new teachers. Miss Pawnee and Miss Allendorf have charge of the Intermediate and Junior rooms. Mr. Douglas, principal, has the high school.

Last Sunday evening Miss Agnes Anderson entertained a crowd of young people at the home of her parents, Mr and Mrs. Anderson. The party was in honour of her brother Peter who leaves on Wednesday for a year at McGill University.
